PART E: READING COMPREHENSION

متون زیر را با دقت خوانده و به سوالات پاسخ دهید.

The Spreading Deserts

The spread of the desert is not new. In ancient times, for example, the Middle East was a very fertile area. For hundreds of years, desert peoples moved from place to place with their animals before an area was destroyed. This gave the land a chance to recover. They also raised crops every other year in an area, so they never overworked the land. These traditional ways are disappearing, largely because of modern technology. Today, many factors add to the problem along the edge of the desert. The population is growing, and too many animals feed on the fragile land. There is now a worldwide effort to stop the spread of the desert. This may be the last chance to save the land.

42. In the past, the Middle East was good to grow plants. True False
 43. What is the Closest meaning of "traditional"? a. old b. modern
 44. What are two reasons which help the spread of the deserts?

Indoor Air Pollution

A recent study reached a surprising conclusion: indoor air pollution is almost always two or five times worse than outside pollution. This is true even in buildings that are close to factories that produce chemicals. Better ventilation - a system for moving fresh air - can cut indoor pollution to a safe level, but lack of ventilation is seldom the main cause of problem. Experts have found that buildings create their own pollution. Imagine a typical home. The people who live there burn oil, wood, or gas for cooking and heating. They might smoke cigarettes, pipes, or cigars. They use chemicals for cleaning. They use hundreds of products made of plastic or particleboard; these products - such as the bookshelves - give off chemicals that we can't see but that we do breathe in. And in many areas, the ground under the building might send a dangerous gas called radon into the home. To decrease indoor air pollution, it is a good idea to keep house plants in apartments; besides, a good system of ventilation can do wonder.

45. Buildings create their own pollution. True False
 46. RADON comes from nearby factories. True False
 47. How do people create indoor pollution?
 48. Name two ways to cut indoor pollution?
